General States 18-Year-Olds Must Register

Calling attention to the fact that failure to register is a violation of law and makes the delinquent liable to penalty, Brigadier General George M. Carter, Maine State Director of Selective Service, outlined registration requirements under the Universal Military Training Service Act, as amended, which he said he believed were not thoroughly understood by all the general public.

"The obligation to register," General Carter said, "is a continuing obligation and must be fulfilled. The obligation to register is imposed by the Act on every male citizen and every other male person in the United States between the ages of 18 and 26, with the general exception of members of the armed forces on active duty and certain aliens.

The young man who becomes 18 is required to register at a local board office within five days of the date of his 18th birthday, General Carter explained, but if he happens to be away from home he need not return; he may register at the nearest local board convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction, even though it is in another state. If he is in a foreign country when he becomes 18 he registers with any U. S. diplomatic or consular office. After he registers, it is mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change in his address or change in status, the director pointed out. This applies after he becomes 26 as well as before. Registrants, generally speaking, who are deferred subsequent to June 19, 1951, are liable until they are 35.

General Carter said he could not overemphasize the importance of the registrant giving his permanent home address as his place of residence when he registers at a board away from home, since the place of residence which he gives when registering determines the local board which will always have jurisdiction over him.

"Any person who changes from a status which did not require his registration to a status which does require it must register promptly to be within the law," General Carter said.

General Carter said that in general aliens entering the United States for the first time are required to register at a local board within six months following the date of their entry.

The maximum penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the Selective Service Law, General Carter pointed out, is five years in prison or a fine of $10,000 or both.

The Music Appreciation Group will meet at the Gould Academy music room Thursday evening, Feb. 19, at 8 o'clock. The Hebrides Overture, Mendelssohn, will be played and studied. Other records will be reviewed as examples of sonata form. Mrs. Florence Emery and Mrs. Doris Bryant are co-chairmen for this meeting.

The Week in Oxford County

Donald K. Mason of South Paris has bought the turning mill on Hill St. The mill has been owned and operated by Raymond E. Shaw. Mr. Mason intends to continue working the mill on its present basis. It will be known as the Mason Manufacturing Co.

Alpha Kappa Lambda of South Paris was badly injured recently when he fell from a second story porch at Portland. Officials said he was clearing snow from the roof when the accident occurred.

A new temporary bridge over Swift River Rumbold will be built. This will replace one destroyed by an ice jam several weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Cummings of West Paris spoke on the inauguration and entertained with pictures at the Oxford County Council meeting at Locke Mills Legion Hall Tuesday evening. James Lassiter, Oxford County Commander, conducted the meeting.

James B. Mason, manager of the Buckfield branch of Casco Bank and Trust Co., died of a heart ailment last Saturday. He was 54 years of age.

Stuart Martin, candidate for selectman, Rumbold, stands defeated by one vote following the inspection of ballots from municipal election held Feb. 9 in that town.

G. A. Carnival Called Success

The Academy held one of the most successful carnivals in recent years over the week end. Arrangements were under the supervision of Vance Richardson, faculty advisor, and the members of the Gould Academy Outing Club. Three one-act plays "The Command Performance," "Cabbages," and "The Boy Comes Home," under the direction of David D. Thompson, were presented in William Bingham Gymnasium on Friday evening. Following the plays, the Coronation of the Carnival Queen, Colleen Mead of Bartlett, N. H., was held on an ice throne in front of William Bingham Gymnasium. Miss Carol Barton, of Sharon, Mass., 1952 Queen and now a freshman at Colby College, crowned the new queen. Headmaster Elwood F. Ireland then presented the Queen with an engraved gold bracelet, gift of the Outing Club. After each member of the ski team was knighted by Miss Mead, the royal procession moved into the gymnasium where an informal reception was held.

Saturday the ski events were resumed with the downhill and slalom races held in the morning and the jumping in the afternoon at the Swan's Corner Hill. The cross-country race took place on Friday afternoon with the starting and finishing line on Alumni Field. Saturday night a large group of students, parents, and guests danced to the music of Donald Lord, G. A. '49 and his Maine Orchestra at the Carnival Ball.

Results of the snow sculpture competition were announced during the intermission at the ball. The Freshman class attorney, "Study Hours," won first place and the Junior class won second place with "I LUV U," a Valentine's Day motif.

This Union

Blocked the Reds

The vast majority of men and women working in American industry are opposed to Communism. The slowness of some groups of industrial employees in breaking up Red domination of their union can be attributed to two things: an attitude of "Let George do it," and a lack of understanding of the real menace of Communism. Industrial employees are no different from the general public in this. Apathy and ignorance of Communism throughout our population are great assets to the Reds seeking to gain control of our nation through subversion.

Keith Claxton, president of Local 221 IUS-CIO, a machinist at the A B Chance Company in Centralia, Mo., told our Harding College Freedom Forum XIII how his group broke away from a union cited by Congress as Communist-led. "Several years ago," he said, "our Local 221 was affiliated with the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UEA). A number of us were disturbed about this because we knew the top officials in the international had Communist affiliations."

Many Not Aware
"We felt the money we paid to the international for dues was going to support Communist work. We didn't like this one bit but many of our members weren't aware of the threat of Communism. These who were knew that our company's president, F. Gary Chance, was well informed on the menace of Communism; so we asked him to speak on Communism at our union's annual dinner. I think a lot of us had our eyes opened to what was going on by hearing Mr. Chance. Some of the boys wanted to get out of UEW right then."

"But we didn't have any place to go. We didn't know what other union would be a good one to affiliate with, and probably we—and the company—would have found ourselves right in the middle of a representation fight with three or four unions seeking bargaining rights."

Bought Advice
A year or so later the national convention of the CIO expelled the UEW. "We knew the score then," Claxton said. "We were ready to switch over to the IUE, but we didn't know how to go about it. We had about $1,200 in our Local treasury at the time and we didn't want UEW to get that and perhaps help spread Communism with it—and we didn't want a court fight over it, either."

"We finally went to a St. Louis attorney specializing in labor law. Following his advice, given without fee, we got out of UEW, circulated membership cards for the new union, and by that evening had more members in our new union than we had ever been able to get to the Communist-led UEW."

Mutual Good Will
Keith Claxton added a very important comment: "The point here, I think," he said, "is that our membership right had been ready for this move out of the Communist-led UEA had not Gary Chance talked to us about Communism at our request. He certainly did not interfere with our union's affairs, but he had the awareness of our problem and the sense of responsibility to give us some guidance when we needed it. If our union had not been on good terms with the company previously, we would have hesitated to ask management for help with our problem."

Mutual understanding and trust between union and company, this labor leader said, are the indispensable elements needed for industrial peace and progress. The company president agrees. "I sincerely believe," Keith Claxton said in concluding his Freedom Forum talk, "that if management and unions give one another serious and sincere consideration of each other's immediate problems, serious problems could be reached without the need of either side trying to stir up public opinion or of a gov-

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

JACOB B. SANTANGELO, Hotel Essex, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, was orphaned at the age of seven. This meant no one to counsel him. Result? He was always fearful of what to do. This fear was so ingrained in him that it took him five years to pass the State Board Examinations for Law. He would prepare for these State Boards two or three days before they were to be given he would be so frightened that he would withdraw. Finally he passed them.

But fear and lack of self-confidence had become so habitual that he was afraid to try cases before juries. He had to have an associate with him. And he declares that a man cannot continue this too long before his clients will realize what is wrong with him. So he sat down one day and analyzed himself and decided to change. He thought back to his grammar and high school days—to those wonderful teachers who helped to mould the young boys and girls for the future. And he remembered one teacher distinctly telling him, "Jacob, knowing the problem is one-half of the solution."

When the next case came into his office requiring trial he applied that adage. He searched to the core of the problem and began work. He would study, clearly, and associate his work. While doing this he had no fear, for he had no time for fear. Everything he had in his library was searched while all the time bearing in mind that adage. It then began to dawn upon him that no matter what barrage of questions would be asked of him or his client he had a firm foundation, and never thought of fear. And with a human sense of values, and the endowed ability he was blessed with, and with the problem in mind, he worked it out.

As a result of this experience life has taught him that fear is only a ghost which does not exist.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

After the Eisenhower victory, all the political commentators speculated at length on what had caused it. With near-unanimity, it was decided that his attitude toward the Korean war was the number 1 factor; that the American people were 100 per cent fed up with a policy which promised neither victory nor any other kind of an end to that carry conflict. One of President Eisenhower's first steps on taking office was to start putting into effect a new and very different policy, the most far-reaching and dramatic change being the order withdrawing the 7th Fleet from the job of isolating Formosa from the Chinese mainland, and thus opening the way for Nationalist Chinese attacks on Red China.

Number 2 factor, most of the analysts decided, was Eisenhower's pledge to eliminate government corruption and waste, to cut costs, to balance the budget, and to bring about tax reductions at the earliest possible time. Most of the other successful Republican candidates used a similar plank in their campaigns. And now tangible steps in that direction are being taken. President Eisenhower had been in office but a little more than three weeks when he issued a sweeping order to all federal bureaus and agencies to eliminate unnecessary programs, to hire no new workers except when absolutely essential, and to start cutting the government payroll. The aim, said Budget Director Dodge, is a "progressive reduction of personnel." Only necessary construction projects are to be continued, and these projects must be managed with the strictest standards of economy. He added, "This requires that the necessary for all work be questioned and action be taken to eliminate unnecessary programs and hold the remainder to minimum levels."

At the same time, the Senate Investigations Subcommittee received testimony indicating that ineligible people may be getting up to $100,000,000 a year from the federal-state public assistance program. The Federal Security Agency was severely criticized. Mrs. Hobby, the new head of the federal agencies involved in these and related activities, was asked to suggest corrective measures.

These two occurrences are indicative of the way the fiscal wind is blowing in Washington now. As columnist Doris Fleeson puts it, "President Eisenhower has embarked upon a courageous test of the country's fidelity to the old-fashioned principles of economy, thrift, economic freedom, and small government."

Most people will agree that this,

● Farmers in every section of the United States have been concerned over the decline of farm prices for the past five months. This worry has not been confined to any one group in the farming industry, that is, the farmer who concentrates on a particular crop or one kind of livestock. All have been worried and with considerable justification.

The decline now amounts to approximately 11 per cent under what prices were at this time last year. A number of farm leaders have reported they see no indication of a halt in sliding farm prices.

The result has been a low rumbling of discontent among congressmen from the great farming states. If prices continue to decline that rumbling will grow in the next few weeks and may force the administration to take quick action to stabilize farm markets.

In the past special groups have used congressional pressure to secure legislation beneficial to their group. This may be the first such contest under the new administration. It will be interesting to watch and may give a good indication of things to come.

A stable farm market is a necessity to a stable national economy. But the new administration will move with care. It is predicted, because any action in this problem may well set a pattern of action in other segments of the nation's economy.

● The Wilson affair will leave its mark upon the Eisenhower administration, season political observers are predicting.

In the first place, a number of senators, both Republicans and Democrats, were unhappy over Mr. Wilson's first appearance before the senate committee that investigated his appointment and his holdings in General Motors. His created a bad impression. He did much to erase this impression during his second appearance, but the damage had already been done.

And second, as one famous columnist and political observer pointed out, that however strong the Eisenhower team might be on organization, efficiency, management and what not, it has shown an ineptitude in the political game. This columnist said it would be well if "nobody else allows himself to indulge in the rather lax notion that running a big business and running a big government are the same thing."

Third, and possibly most important, the Republicans themselves dramatized the suggestion that the Democrats have carefully planted, namely, that the Republican party is still the party of money.

It is now generally agreed there will not be much opposition by the Democratic party during the first few months of the Eisenhower administration. But the opposition will pick up as time moves along and will be centered for most part on the "money party" angle.

● The Korean War, momentarily shoved aside by the inauguration and the new administration's attempt to hit its stride, was back in the news with the report of an attack by U. S. soldiers that failed and which resulted in numerous casualties.

It brought to mind the unanswered question of President Eisenhower's plans for Korea. The Korean deadlock is again the No. 1 item on the administration's agenda.

The first move, perhaps, is Eisenhower's decision to remove the U. S. Fleet from the Formosa Strait and to permit the Chinese Nationalists to attack the mainland. The fleet will continue in the area, however, to prevent any attack by the Communists on Formosa.

AT A TIME OF GREAT CRISIS

"I would tell them,
That we had borne much
That we had long and ardently
sought for reconciliation
upon honorable terms
That it had been denied us;
That all our attempts for Peace
had proved abortive;
The Spirit of Freedom was too high in us to Submit to Slavery . . . and all this I would tell them in words as clear as the Sun in its meridian brightness."

ideas from other editors

From The Lincoln Times, Lincoln, North Carolina:

If you're still glib enough to believe that we can pay most or even a substantial part of the incredible cost of government by "soaking the rich," some facts that Senator Walter George presented in a Look magazine article will come as a rude awakener. If Congress confiscated all taxable income over $100,000, by imposing a flat 100 per cent tax at that level, the amount of additional revenue would be sufficient to operate the Federal government for four hours.

If all taxable income over $25,000 were confiscated the government would run for 10 days.

If everything above $10,000 were taken in toto by the tax collector, it would pay the government's bills for 10 days.

Finally, if Congress shot the works by imposing a 100 per cent tax on all income above $5,000, the additional revenue would keep the government going for 22 days. This being true, who must pay the great bulk of the government's spending—and who must pay almost all of future tax increases if they come? The answer is, people of small and moderate means—the people who work for wages and modest salaries, the people who have little businesses, the people who represent the majority of America's population and are the backbone of America's strength. They must pay it for the simple reason that no one else can. There just aren't enough "rich" to make a dent in the spending!

From The Chickasha Star, Chickasha, Oklahoma:

An old line southern democrat telephoned the editor of the Star this week and he suggested that one of the first things he should do when he took office was to count down how many gold coins he had. This is a pregnant suggestion. They have been buying that gold there now for the last twenty years and the same bunch has counted and recounted it each time. At the end of every twenty years it might be a good idea to have a new bunch count it.

From The Gallen River Gazette, Three Oaks, Michigan:

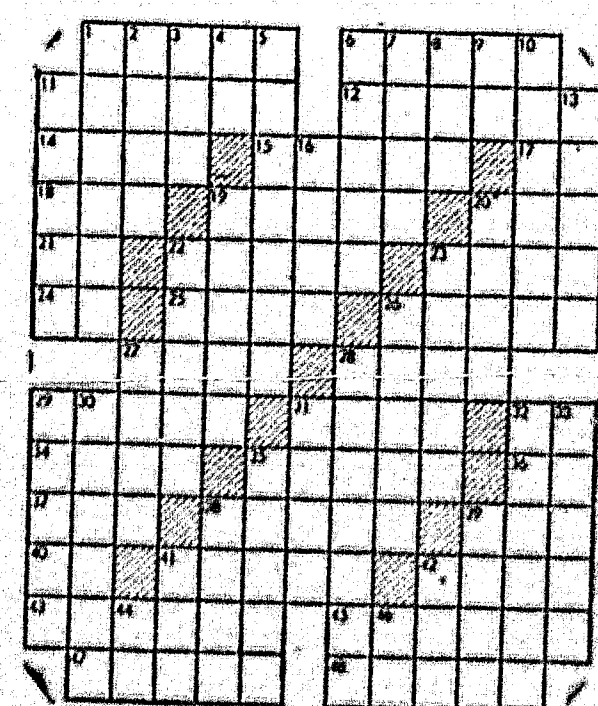

To a lay observer there appears to be one very weak spot in the new cabinet and advisory force which the President has gathered. The very strength of the men he has chosen may prove a weakness. They are trained businessmen or professional leaders. They are accustomed to authority. They have never had to keep a public sentiment behind them when they worked. Theirs to command and who should argue with them? In their new positions they will need both a sympathetic congress and a public. In the past many elite career men have come to crisis when they tried public office. President Hoover was an example of this. He was an able business man and had proven that many times. He had a keen perception of many of the problems of state but he did not maintain good public relationships and when the depression came along he was lost.

TODAY'S meditation
The Upper Room
 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, February 19
 I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called. (Ephesians 4:1)

Read Romans 12:1-5.
 In the New Testament, remarks made by early Christians make fascinating reading. They speak of themselves as servants, slaves, prisoners of Christ. In those days it was not a disgrace to be in bondage to some wealthy and prominent citizen. The master provided good living quarters and personal security. The master made decisions for them, gave orders, and handled all problems. That was the master's responsibility.

It is never a disgrace to be in bondage to Christ. When we examine our Christian experience, we find too often that we run our lives. We surrender only part of our lives or a portion of our possessions to our Master. Christ Himself does not approve of such compromises. He wants us to be completely His. It is no easy thing nor a thing accomplished without courage to "let go and let God." But when we do, life becomes wonderful, happy, and secure; for Christ is our peace.

Prayer
 O merciful and patient Father, unto Thee we come, for without Thee we cannot live. Dwell in our hearts, helping us to be Christlike in every thought, attitude, and decision. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
 "I have surrendered to God; therefore I surrender to nothing else."—J. Stanley Jones.

—Thornton C. Miller, (District of Columbia)

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
 from The Bible

Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.—(Job XXXV, 13.)

Vanity leads us into wilfulness, pridefulness, and selfishness; it will harden our hearts toward the weakness and the need of others. Worst of all, vanity tends to make us feel that we can do without God, and such an assumption can only lead to unhappiness and disaster, both for an individual and for a nation.

Maine's thriving poultry industry is rapidly becoming mechanized. Automatic feeders and waterers, as well as much other labor-saving equipment, often enable a single man to care for thousands of growing birds.

Every spud grower in the Pine Tree State is being urged to plant nothing but the best this year. And that means nothing but Maine Blue Tag Certified Seed Potatoes. It pays.

Clever Safety Programs Led By Small Town Women

"America owes a debt of gratitude to rural and small town women for saving lives through their ingenious and unselfish work for the cause of traffic safety." That was the statement made recently by Ned Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

The occasion was the judging of nominees for the Carol Lane Award for Traffic Safety, established recently through a grant of Shell Oil Company. The Carol Lane Award offers each year a $1,000 defense bond and three additional prizes to those American women who make the most outstanding contributions to traffic safety.

Mr. Dearborn said that he was tremendously impressed by the number and quality of the entries from small towns and rural areas. He attributed the fact to higher community spirit and neighborliness there.

In Florida, for instance, Mrs. Sara Griffen Hughes, president of the Pilot Club, is credited with organizing the state-wide project to eliminate a major hazard on rural highways—jutting roadside mailboxes.

Mrs. Hughes' answer was "turnouts," or central rural mail box stations every four miles along country roads. Today there are 25 such clever-leaf stations where mail can be delivered and picked up safely and where, incidentally, school buses can turn around with freedom from accidents.

Mr. Dearborn also cited the work of Mrs. Sidney Arnold, an Arkansas PTA safety chairman, who solicited community funds and effort to place phosphorescent tape on all children's bicycles so that they could be seen at night by country drivers.

He said a lone woman in the Lone Star state, from a community so small it's not even on the map, spearheaded the effort to establish the first safety commissions in 1200 communities last year. Texas named the new highway that runs through her home town of Mumfords after her—the Lillian Collier highway.

Safety may be a grim business, Mr. Dearborn said, but rural women find plenty of room for humor in getting their lessons across. He mentioned Mrs. Henry Hight of Henderson, North Carolina, who posted a sign over mirrors in public places—which read: "Are you looking at Vance County's next accident victim?"

THE SIX LEADING CAUSES OF DEATH

As this chart shows clearly, diseases of the heart and circulation lead all others as a cause of death in the United States. They are responsible each year for more deaths than the next five most important causes of death combined. One type of blood vessel disease alone, hardening of the arteries, causes more deaths annually than cancer.

Although these widespread disorders strike most often in the later years of life, there is no age group that is exempt. Of the approximately 10,000,000 Americans who suffer from some form of heart disease, an estimated 600,000 are children of school age.

The American Heart Association and its affiliates are attacking the heart diseases through research, education and community heart programs. A contribution to the Heart Fund will help support this nationwide fight against the most challenging heart problem confronting the American people.

EXCESSIVE PRIDE

Excessive pride has caused the downfall of many men in the world. And it has lowered many men in the eyes of God.

The proud, the selfish, the arrogant do not fit into the Christian picture. Christ was humble and he did not hold out any hope for the man who was excessively proud.

The proud man believes, in a way, that he is specially favored and God will look down upon him and relax the rules a little for him. That man is almost beyond hope. Because God has no favorites and He will judge all equally.

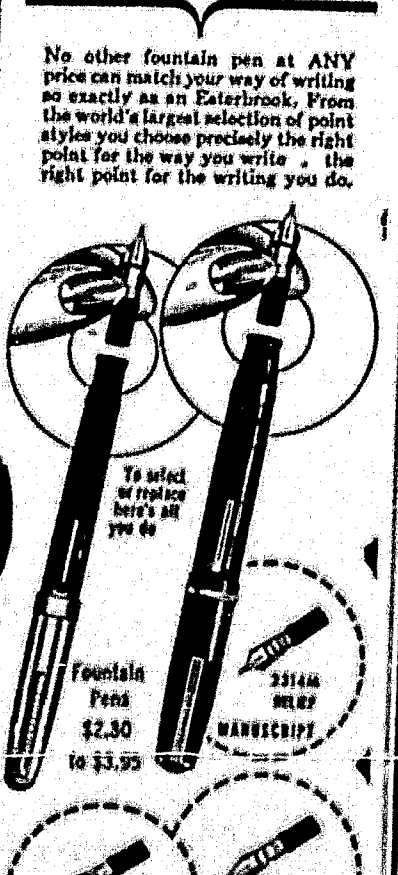

The proud man pretends to pay homage to God; but they will go away unwelcomed and unrewarded because they lack the one gift he expects of all—a true loyalty of heart, mind and soul.

But the man who kneels before Him with a humble and chaste heart He will reward a thousandfold. And for those who have not even tried to shake off the shackles of pride and sin, He can only turn away in disappointment and grief.

GO TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

West Palm Beach, Fla., Post: "Today flood-control and river and harbor projects do for the nation's lawmakers what post offices used to do. In other words, they supply the pork that legislators slice off for home consumption.... The coming to power of a new administration next month provides a fitting excuse for revisiting this entire program with the intent of putting it on a sound economical footing."

SINCE the television set can't be moved, the boys hit upon the idea of bringing their portable radio to the dinner table so they won't miss any of their programs. Unfortunately, I relaxed discipline
one night and allowed it.

Now I like radio programs, just so they are not off-key sopranos or mountain music. And the experiment went along fine—up to a point.

Of course, when their mother asked for the butter they were so interested they passed the peas. At other times they didn't respond.
And then I became interested.

The story was about a man, a little girl and a boy, in a jet plane
that had been chasing rustlers.
Doesn't make sense, but so help me that's what they were doing.

Then the plane started to fall and it fell for the next 10 minutes of the program.

Down they plunged. Frantically
they worked the controls.

For 10 minutes I plunged with them. Then—CRASH!
"Timber!" the wife screams.

"Steady, Pop," one of the boys says.

"After all, Pop, it's only a radio program," the other says.

Then I understood. For 10 minutes I had been holding the bowl of peas aloft as I plunged with the plane. With the crash the bowl of peas crashed.

"I'll have my coffee in the living room," I mumbled and fled their laughter. I can hardly wait until tomorrow. How did they get out of that crash alive? They must have, because the program is going to be on at its scheduled time.

dress them to this column. Community Press Service, McClure

CUB SCOUTS OF BETHEL

PACK No. 165

Pack No. 165, Cub Scouts of America, was formed Dec. 1, 1950, with George Taylor as Cubmaster, six met on the Pack Committee, six Den Mothers and 20 Cub Scouts
as charter members.

These boys are classified according to age in their Dens. The eight year old ones are the Wolf group, nine year the Bear group, the ten years the Lion group. Of the charter members there were 13 Wolves,
four Bears, three Lions. One Lion, Richard Saunders, in his one year of Cubbing completed all three badges and so earned his "Webelos" rank. To earn a badge a boy must complete 12 achievements, after which there are electives he may do to earn arrow points. For the first 10 electives done a boy receives a gold arrow and for every 10 done
after that he gets a silver arrow point. A boy may earn as many as he cares to work for and earn. After a year of Cubbing a boy receives a Gold Star service pin; these are also given to the Den Mothers.

Of the 20 Charter members two boys have dropped out of Scouting, one moved away and transferred to the pack at his new residence, twelve have graduated into the Boy Scouts and the remaining will graduate this spring.

When the Cubs organized they had no funds, but that first winter they held a paper drive which was a financial success, and that Spring they had a Circus in Kimball Park which was a huge success in every way. With their money they purchased a Pack flag, books, materials, Den Mothers'
caps and other supplies.

Dec. 1, 1952, there were registered 35 boys, and three have joined since then.

We now have six Dens, seven Den Mothers, six Den Chiefs. The Den Chiefs are Boy Scouts that attend the Den meetings and assist the Den Mother, and they are given credit in their Scouting for this work with the Cubs.

The Dens meet each Tuesday after school. The Pack Committee, Den Mothers, and Cubmaster meet once a month to plan the month's work and play. On the last Friday of each month all the Cubs meet in the evening at the Congregational Church, and this is called the Pack meeting.

At the Pack meeting badges and awards are given out, new Cubs join, the 11-year-old boys graduate, skills are presented by the Dens, and the boys exhibit the things which they have worked on for that month.

While George Taylor is away this winter, Pat Grenier is acting as Cubmaster. The Congregational
Guild is the Cubs' sponsoring group.

BEAR RIVER GRANGE
Bear River Grange No. 285 met
at their hall, Saturday night, Feb.
14.

The usual baked bean supper
before the meeting was in order and a good crowd of hungry folks including visitors from Berlin, N.
H., partook of the same. Meeting was called to order sharply at 8 o'clock. Business was dispensed with — one name was voted on and the meeting turned over to the Lecturer's committee, Lillas Coe.

singing, followed by a reading of the program.

Then several songs were sung by the male choir and tableaux to illustrate each song as it was sung was put on by different members
— such as—Home Sweet Home—School Days—Silver Threads Among
the Gold—etc. Then our speaker, James Lassiter, gave us a very interesting talk on China as it was when he was there in the late 20's and the early 30's — about eight years in all.

Following the speaker a Valentine party was carried out by Sister Alma Whitman, each one receiving Valentines and several received small gifts. Next came the Lecturer's report of her trip to Waterville to Lecturer's Conference last week. That too proved very instructive and interesting.

The Juvenile Grange members assisted with the program. Our next meeting is Feb. 28, and is Ritualistic Night. Our Deputy will be on hand. There will be a 6:30 feed and we expect some other Granges to meet with us on that night. Visitors always welcome. We are ask-meeting.

EASY DOES IT

DON'T let stains mar your table linens for future use. There's usually an easy way to rid them of stains if you use the right method. Here are some common stains and how to treat them.

Chocolate or cocoa stains on cottons or linens should be dipped in hot water and then washed in rich suds. Bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide. For colored fabrics, use lukewarm suds and sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Coffee and tea stains on fine fabrics should first be sponged with warm water. Apply glycerine if the stain remains and let stand for half an hour. Rinse well then wash in lukewarm sudsy water.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Sausage-Spaghetti Sauce
(Serves 4-6)

1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 4-ounce can mushrooms
1/2 clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, chopped
Flour, salt, pepper
3 cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Crumble and brown pork sausage in skillet. Push to one side and remove all but 2 tablespoons fat from skillet. In this, brown mushrooms, add onion and garlic. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour, add tomato juice and cook until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Simmer 30 minutes. In the meantime, cook 7 to 8 ounces spaghetti in 3 quarts boiling, salted water. When tender, drain and serve topped with sauce.

If egg or meat has marred your washable table linens, soak first in cold water, then wash in hot or lukewarm suds depending upon what the fabric can take. For non-washable materials, use carbon tetrachloride.

Grease stains should first be rubbed with soap, then washed in hot suds. If the stain remains, treat with a solvent like carbon tetrachloride.

More than six times as many men of your age will die of lung cancer this year as died in 1938. Our research scientists still don't know why. They do know, however, that over half of those who will develop lung cancer can be saved... if they get proper treatment while the disease is still in the silent, symptomless stage. That's why we urge you to have a chest X-ray every six months no matter how well you may feel. For more information call us or write to "Cancer", care of your local Post Office.

TENTATIVE plans for the spring edition of the "Biggest Show" indicate that it will include the Woody Herman orchestra, Frankie Laine, and one other top name as yet unselected. The show is scheduled to begin March 5 for 60 dates throughout the northeast and west. Laine toured with the spring edition of "The Biggest Show of '52" which co-starred Fatti Page and the Billy May orchestra. The second generation Ella Logan, daughter Annie Ross, has been signed by Prestige Records. Miss Ross won the title of France's number one female singer.

Benny Goodman is planning to form a new instrumental sextet and tour early this year in a series of one-nighters. Goodman has recently been playing solo classical dates. Rosemary Clooney is reportedly asking a salary advance from Paramount. She is getting $25,000 per picture now which isn't bad for a gal who was just hitting the big time a year ago. The singing voice of June Haver in "The Girl Next Door" belongs to Beryl Davis, English chanteuse. Paramount is looking for singers and dancers with new faces in Technicolor.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA—Biggest item here is Johnnie Ray's latest disc which should go big with his fans and make many new ones. Both sides are excellent but we would give the edge to "The Touch of God's Hand." Flip has "I'm Gonna Walk and Talk With My Lord." Guy Mitchell has a good waxing in "She Wears Red Feathers" with "Pretty Little Black-Eyed Susie" on the reverse. Not to be outdone by his two biggest Columbia competitors, Tony Bennett comes up with a fine rendition of the oldie, "Take Me." Back has a new song, "Congratulations to Someone" that really clicks.

CAPITOL—The hit, "Oh, Happy Day," is given polish by the Four Knights. Back has "A Million Tears." Jerry Lewis has legitimate complaints in his latest, "I've Had a Very Merry Christmas." Reverse has "Strictly For the Birds" done in imitable Lewis style.

While breast cancer is the commonest cancer among women of your age, it is also highly curable if treated properly before it has spread beyond a local area in the breast itself. Doctors tell us that women are much more likely to be the first to discover the earliest signs of breast cancer. That is why you should know the correct and most thorough way to examine your breasts for any lumps or thickening. For information as to where to see our new life-saving film "Breast Self-Examination" call us or write to "Cancer" care of your local Post Office.

NIP GOULD 46-44

The Farmington Teachers J.V.s

packed too much reserve strength

as they gradually overcame an early Gould lead to finally win 46-44.

Gould held the lead throughout the first half 17-11 and 25-18. They lost the lead in the third period but a basket by Fossett put the Huskies out front 31-30 at the three-quarter mark. With the score 44-42 for the Teachers and 45 seconds to go, Fossett was fouled and connected for both free shots, tying the game at 44 all. With time running out, McFalls connected with one that was good for the winning point.

margin.

Playing his last game for Gould, Emery came through for 14 points to lead both teams in scoring. Only two other men scored in double figures, Fossett of Gould and Tufts of the visitors each scored an even dozen. Melville and White both played their usual steady games while Rowe, starting his first varsity game, showed all the earmarks of being a top-notch next year. Taylor, also a senior, gave a good performance while relieving Fossett and White.

This final game gives Gould 9 victories against 6 defeats for an unlooked-for creditable showing.

The Gould J.V.s wound up an excellent season winning their 10th victory in 12 starts by defeating the Locke Mills Men's Club 45-32. Along with Rowe, Melville and Bill Daley have developed into good prospects for next year.

Arrangements have been completed to play off the tie for the Sun - Journal (Western Division) League Championship between Mexico and South Paris. The game will be played in the Academy Farnsworth House this
